THE POOR ARE US: MIDDLE CLASS POVERTY POLITICS IN BUENOS AIRES AND SEATTLE IN ENVIRONMENT AND PLANNING A

This research article is co-authored with Sarah Elwood, Nicolas Viotti and Santiago Canevaro and it develops a comparative analysis of how middle class people engage in pro- or anti-poor activism in Seattle and Buenos Aires.

People Involved:  Sarah Elwood
Status of Research or Work: Completed/published
Research Type: Publications  Essays, Articles, and Book Chapters
Related Fields: Cities  Class  Poverty  Social Movements  Urban Studies

Source URL: https://geography.washington.edu/research/publications/poor-are-us-middle-class-poverty-politics-buenos-aires-and-seattle-environment